FOOD DEFENCE & FOOD FRAUD TRAINING

Keeping our food and products safe is a multi-layered process. Although preventive programs work together to anticipate and protect our food from risks, food defence and food fraud threats are usually more difficult to predict and harder to control.

What if you could ensure the authenticity of your products by assessing your food defence and food fraud vulnerability and mitigating consequences? This online course focuses on helping you create effective food defence and food fraud plans by looking at where possible threats come from and how to do a vulnerability assessment.

THIS TRAINING WILL HELP YOU:

- Understand the difference between food safety, food fraud, and food defence programs.

- Perform a food fraud vulnerability assessment.

- Perform a food authenticity risk analysis.

- Identify risk factors that lead to food fraud.

- Understand the responsibilities for different roles within food fraud and food defence programs.

MODULE TOPICS:

- Food Defence
- Food Fraud
